STANDARD PIANOS. A NEW MUSICAL INVENTION

> IS IT AN ORGAN OR A PIANO? ..

All the objections to the parlor organ are at last done away with by this new invention. It has seven full octaves and looks exatly like a fine upright piano. There are no stops in view nor any unsightly bellows pedals, but the instrument is worked by two pedals exactly like those on a piano, and a 6-year-old child is able to work them with ease. The delicacy and variety of its tones are won-derful, and the touch so light and quick that the most difficult piano pieces can be executed thereon with-out difficulty. It is a marvelous improvement upon the parlor organ, and has created a great sensation in musical circles. The price is not higher than that of the ordinary or gan. CHICAGO, Dec. 11 .- | By the Associated Press.] Twenty-one State delegations in the World's Fair convention here today voted for a resolution asking Congress to appropriate $5,000,000 the Exposition. Five other State delegations that have no authority to vote on such questions put themselves on record individually as in favor of the resolution. The resolution reviews the work accomplished financially and materially by Chicago, declares that the city has more than fulfilled its pledges, calls attention to the national character of the Exposition and affirms without hesitation that Congress should promptly appropriate $5,000,000 for the completion of this national enterprise. The advantages, it says, are to be reaped by the people of the entire country. The the people of the entire country. The people of Chicago have contributed $5,000,000, the city of Chicago $5,000,000, and it certainly would be reasonable for the rest of the country to contribute one additional $5,000,000 since the advantage to them is beyond calculation. By Telegraph to The Times. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—[By the Associated Press.] News was received today of a disaster to the steamer Maggie Ross, bound from Coos Bay for San Francisco, with lumber. She was found abandoned at sea and towed into Yaquina Bay. She had about sixteen hands all told, but none of them have been found. The steamer Willamette Valley towed the vessel in safely, having found her thirty-two miles south and ten miles west of Yaquina Bay. Her smokestack was lying on the deck badly smashed. Every boat was gone and the steward, H. C. Annenson, was dead on the deck. He had evidently been killed by the falling smokestack.

The Maggie Ross left Coos Bay Sun-The Maggie Ross left Coos Bay Sunday afternoon shortly after the steamers Arago and Arcata. The Arago arrived, but the Arcata has not been heard from. The wind was blowing a gale from the south and the Maggie Ross must have got the full force of the storm. She was driven out of her course and forced back to the northward. What has become of the crew can only be conjectured, as they should have reached Yaquina before this.

The Maggie Ross was owned by O. Greenwald of Port Townsend: and was consigned to the Golden Gate Lumber consigned to the Golden Gate Lumber Company. The steamer Arcata is con-siderably overdue. She is owned by the Oregon Coal and Navigation Company. O. H. Greenwald, president of Golden Gate Lumber Company, said this after-noon: "My opinion is that the Maggle Ross got caught in a trough of the sea and the waves washed over her, com-pletely submerging her house, smoke-stack and boats and that the men were drowned in the raging waters. The crew numbered fourteen all told. Capt. Marshall was a skillful seaman and handled the vessel very successfully. Besides him there was Chief Officer Taylor, Chief Engineer B. W. McAnnery and H. C. Annersey, the cook. Then there was the second mate, another entered was the second mate.

there was the second mate, another engineer, two firemen, five hands before the mast and a cabin boy."

The Maggie Ross is a steamer of about 200 tons, with a carrying capacity of 500 tons. She was fully loaded at the time. This is not the first experience of the Maggie Ross. Once before she was stuck on the Coss Bay bar and had to jettison a considerable portion of her cargo. Anconsiderable portion of her cargo. An-other time she was towed in from sea by the steamer Emily in a disabled com dition.

Fire During the Heavy Windstorm Yesterday Morning.

the windstorm was at its height, an alarm was turned in from Temple street and Broadway for a fire in a row of one-story brick buildings on Temple just back of the Clifton House.

structure adjoining. The fire started in one in which Thomas Brindley conducts a grocery store. It was caused by the explosion of a coal-oil lamp. Before the alarm was turned in the whole store was in flames and the fire soon spread to the adjoining stores. When the groceryman lit his lamp he went out to feed his horse and when he returned the damage was done.

As Chief Moore has had his men up and ready for instant duty since the wind came up he was not long in reaching the fire, and with the assistance of the chemical engines water was soon being rlayed on the flamer was soon being rlayed on the flamer. was soon being played on the flames.

The fire was soon under control and probably one of the most disastrous fires that Los Angeles ever saw was averted; for the flames reached the Clifton House and would have soon invoced across the street to the principal jumped across the street to the principal business portion of the city.

The losses are about as follows:

Mr. Brindley values his building at $800, on which he had an insurance of $350. He loses $700 on his stock, but $350. He loses $700 on his stock, but as the insurance is in his wife's name the gentleman could give no figures. He also loses all his wearing apparel, which he kept in the store. Mr. Luby loses everything, including a valuable piano, and has no insurance. The gentleman had just got in a large stock of goods.

burned, and they are fully covered by losses by theft.

The firemen did good work and deserve much credit. This is the first fire during a windstorm that Los Angeles has had for a number of years.

A VOLCANIC ISLAND.

What an Experimenting Party Found in the Gulf of California. GUAYMAS (Mexico.) Dec. 4.—[Correspondence.] A party which has just returned from the head of the Gulf of California brings the news of the for-mation of a volcanic island during the earthquake last summer. At a point near the middle of the Gulf, where it has always been considered the deep-est, there is an island which has for its center an active volcano, spouting fire, ashes and mud. The island rises diamonds. Room 5. 226 S. SPRING ST. 15

They made soundings around the island. The island rises just above the surface of the water and the cone of the volcano is just a few the cone of the volcano is ing.

They made soundings around the island and found that where there had been formerly no bottom to the gulf, as far as the usual means of measurement is concerned, they could now find bottom within ten feet of the surface within a mile of the island in any direction. It has the appearance of a ridge and the men think the center of the gulf has been forced up like the folds of cloth from some internal disturbance.

CATARRH!

Consumption!

Dr.M. Hilton Williams, 467 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal. By his Aerean system of practice, which consists of proper Medicated inhalations and Compound Oxygen Treatment.

CATARRH!

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses astonishment at his remarkable tendency that he is scarcely frendeed, he declares that he is scarcely frendeed, he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

A sense of wearlness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing; hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and faitigue; the breath lessens on a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a full gas though there was not room enough from the companies of the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time the companies of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his condident hope that it will wear off, declare that he has had the čatarrh for years and has not seemed to become much worse, and he trusts he will by and-by recover. But this declared is the disease of the resultators of the companies of catarrh finally end in cable to all the disease of the resultators. The Aerean system of practice is appli-cable to all the diseases of the respiratory organs.

THE COURTS.

A Partial Report Submitted by the Grand Jury.

Two Indictments Returned Against Edward A. Gibbs.

Charged with Obtaining Money by False Pretenses.

Suit Commenced-Divorce Granted
-Admitted to Citizenship-

General Court News,

At 2:40 o'clock yesterday afternoo eventeen members of the county grand jury presented themselves, in custody Deputy Sheriff John Cline, before Judge Smith in Department One, and after a brief whispered consultation with the Court Foreman Bouton anounced that that body desired to make spartial report. An envelope, containing two indictments, was then handed to Judge Smith, who passed them to his clerk, with instructions to issue bench warrants, returnable forthwith, upon them, with bail fixed at $2500 for each charge thereon. In reply to a remark by the Court Foreman Bouton stated that the grand jury was pretty nearly through with its work. The expert accountants were now at work upon the county's books but it was expected that they would conclude their labors by the 15th inst., and it would probably take a week longer for the jury to make its final re-

The Court having no further instruc-tions to give the grand jury it returned to its rooms for further investigation.

Bench warrants were at once by Clerk Crane, and less than an hour later Deputy Sheriff Russell arrested Ed A. Gibbs on Spring street upon two charges of obtaining property under false pretenses.

The first of the indictments found by the grand jury against Gibbs reads as follows:

In the Superior Court of the State of Cal-fornia, in and for the county of Los Anifornía, in and for the county of Los Angeles.

The People of the State of California against Edward A. Gibbs, at its September session. A.D. 1891.

The grand jury of Los Angeles county, in the name and by the authority of the people of the State of California, accuse Edward A. Gibbs of the crime of obtaining property and money by false pretenses, committed as follows:

Heretofore, to-wit: On the 22d day of October, A.D. 1890, in the county of Los Angeles and State aforesaid, the said Edward A. Gibbs, with intent then and there to cheat and defraud one Herman Zuber of his property and money, did wilfully, un-ward A. Gibbs, with intent then and there to cheat and defraud one Herman Zuber of his property and money, did wilfully, unlawfully, knowingly, designedly, falsely, fraudulently and feloniously pretend and represent to him, the said Herman Zuber, that he, the said Edward A. Gibbs, was the lawful owner and holder of three certain promissory notes, each for the sum of thirty-three cents ($1333.33, bearing interest at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, and each payable to the order of the said Edward A. Gibbs, and dated December 10, 1886, and due respectively in one, two and three years after the date thereof, and executed and delivered by one Donald Mackay to him, the said Edward A. Gibbs, upon one hundred and sixty acres of land in the county of Los Angeles, State of California, and described as follows, to wit: the southwest quarter of section 30, in township 3 south of range 11 west, San Bernardino meridian.

That he, the said Edward A. Gibbs, was a contained to contain the condition of the latter's testimony the matter went over until this morning.

Company, a suit to recover $1000 alleged to be due for services rendered as gent for the sale of 640 acres of $12nd, which was submitted to him or Thursday evening, judgment being requested to be due for services rendered as gent for the sale of 640 acres of $12nd, which was submitted to him of the for the rendered as gent for the sale of 640 acres of $12nd, which was submitted to him of the rendered as gent for the sale of 640 acres of $12nd, which was submitted to him of the rendered as gent for the sale of 640 acres of $12nd, whi meridian.

That he, the said Edward A. Gibbs, was acquainted with the said Donald Mackay, and that the said Donald Mackay was a wealthy Scotchman then residing at Cole grove in this county; that said Donald Mackay was then a man of large means and good innarcal standing, and abundantly able to pay said promissory notes, and that he, the said Edward A. Gibbs, was familiar with the said land described in said mortgage; that he, the said Edward A. Gibbs, had owned said land and had sold the same to the said land and had sold the same to the said land was then good and perfect in him, the said Donald Mackay; and that said land and said mortgage were good and sufficient security for said sums of money mentioned in said notes.

The indictment then sets forth that mentioned in said notes.

The indictment then sets forth that Zuber, relying upon these representations and believing them to be true, loaned Gibbs $1000, accepting the notes and mortgage as security therefor, whereas in truth no such person exists or existed as Donald Mackay, and the notes and mortgage are of no value whatever, but are wholly false and fictitious.

The second indictment is somewhat similar to that above mentioned, except that the offense charged is simply that of obtaining property by means of false pretenses on April 30 last, from J. H. Alderson, by means of a single promissory note for $1838,33. The same mythical Scotchman, Donald Mackay, also figures in this case, and induced by the pretenses of Gibbs Aiderson transferred to him a surrey, carriage, five buggies, twelve horses, nine sets of harness, two saddles and bridles, and other property valued at $1350.

Gibbs, after an ineffectual tour of the city in search of bail, while in custody of Deputy Sheriff Claney, was lodged in the County Jail about 7 o'clock p.m.

The trial of the case of H. C. Wheeler against the Placerita Mining, Milling and Water Company was resumed before Judge Wade and a jury in Department Three yesterday for the eighth time, and after occupying their attention all day went over until this morning, when the case will be resumed in the courtroom of Department Two.

In Department Four yesterday morning the trial of the Ender Kinter day the courtroom of Department Two.

In Department Four yesterday morning the trial of the Falder-Kiefer damage suit was resumed before Judge Van Dyke and a jury, the defendant, O. H. Kjefer, being upon the witness stand for cross-examination. He was followed by Detective W. A. Bosqui, of the police force, who testified briefly as to his investigation of the case. John Robarts, Esq., then opened the argument on behalf of the plaintiff with a convincing address to the jury, after which court adjourned for the day. The matter will be taken up again this morning.

The matter will be taken up again this morning.

Judge Van Dyke yesterday appointed Messrs. John Robarts, A. M. Stephens and B. W. Lee as a committee to examine John Mitchell Jones as to his qualifications as an applicant for admission to practice as an attorney-at-law.

New YORK papers are at hand with pictures of Russell Sage's office after the anarchist's bomb had exploded in it. It looks like the earthquake in Japan.

GOV. SENATOR HILL has concluded to stick to his office of Governor until his term expires, and the Empire State will have only one Senatorial representative until next month.

Ix Philadelphia last week a Democratic heeler, of the stripe that does the dirty work in elections, met his death on the gallows. He is said to have been a leader of repeater and other fraudulent voters, and his life was a record of violence. The New York Press observes that, in that city, the fellow might have aspired to high honors.

THE Boston Journal says: "Gen. Nel son A. Miles promptly silences his well-meaning friends in the Northwest who wish to boom him for the Presidency. He hasn't forgotten the political misfor tunes of that gallant soldier, Gen. Hancock, and has no desire to share his fate." He has a well-meaning friend hereabouts who ought to be admonished JOAQUIN MILLER has made his reputa tion as a poet and an eccentric character, and perhaps that is about all he cares for. But, if he has a heart in him at all, it ought to suffer a twinge when he learns that his son has been arrested for stage robbery and has confessed the crime, saying by way of extenuation that he never received any encouragement at home to go to school or fit himself for an honest and honorable place in the world, and hence drifted into evil ways. What does Joaquin Miller's sentiment amount to in the light of such an arraignment?

A OFFER case of matrimopial mismating will shortly be ventilated before an Oakland court. In September, 1890, George P. Runvon married a handsome accomplished girl. Immediately after the wedding the couple proceeded to Sacramento, where they engaged apartments at the Western Hotel. They had been there only a few minutes when the bridegroom informed the bride of a few hours that he was going a short time. That was the last she saw of him for months. The erratic young man went to the depot, it seems purchased a ticket and skipped for the East. He was heard from when his funds became exhausted and finally he returned to his wife and relatives. But the couple did not live happily together, and now the wife sues for divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty and intemperance. THE Sacramento Bee of last Wednesday says: "Outside of San Francisco there is no paper in the State save the Bee which today gives its readers the text of the President's message." This for bumptious assurance is pretty good. The same message that the Bee gave its readers at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon had been published by THE TIMES at noon of the same day-four hours ahead of the sleepy old capital. There were two newspapers in this city that beat the Bee: how many in other parts of the State besides San Francisco we do not know. The next time our upcountry contemporary gets the enlarged cabesa, and wants to blow a little about exclusive enterprise, it would better send out and get advices from the "cow counties." As Bill Nye says, "This experience teaches that it is well not to do those things which should be avoided.

Tue wind storm that started abou half-past 3 o'clock on the morning of the 10th and continued intermittently through Thursday and Thursday night must have done a great deal of damage. The orange and lemon trees, hanging full of fruit.approaching maturity, were in no condition to stand such a blow. and there has undoubtedly been great loss of fruit and more or less damage t the trees. Reports from Glendale and Verdugo are to the effect that several buildings were wrecked there, and in one instance a tragic result ensued. A dismantled house took fire and a woman perished in the flames. The wind, which came from the Mojave desert, sucked through the Verdugo pass with the violence of a hurricane. Reports of lamage from many localities are told today. As the telegraph and telephone wires were badly demoralized we shall not know the whole story for several to discover it. Whether some news-county taxes for the hays.

Some Criticisms Criticised Democratic papers may think that by referring to President Harrison as "Ben," "Benny" and "little Ben," and to Secretary Blaine as "the jingo secretary," and so forth, they are doing good party service and belittling the administration; but they are not. boors. Benjamin Harrison is not the President of the Republican party, of the Nation. As our Chief Executive it becomes the duty of every loyal citizen to maintain the dignity of his position within reasonable limits. Party rancor, hatred and spleen may be given great latitude in a political campaign but there is a point beyond which they may not go in dealing with the established authority of the United States without exciting a protest from every loval citizen, be he Democrat or Re publican. After all, we are Americans; we believe in our institutions we know that the incumbent in any public position is the representative of the people, and holds for a brief time a sacred trust. His individuality is swallowed up and rendered insignificant; his political importance is everything. Anybody who would pick out a wart on the President's neck or a mole on his chin, or any other physical characteristic as a popular subject of attack, shows, in the first place, that he is a boor; secondly, that he has no adequate comprehension of the dignity of republican institutions.

If one of these same Democratic editers should have the good fortune to meet President Harrison in a social way does anybody suppose that he will ad-dress the President as "Ben" or "little Ben," or turn his back upon him, or spit at him, or perpetrate any other indignity of that sort? Certainly not. He would treat the President with all the conrtesy due from a gentleman (providing the editor is such) to a gen tleman. Why, then, should the editor, when he refers to the President in his newspaper columns, be any less cour-Is it necessary for a man to ster down to the level of a clown when he per forms his editorial duties? Is there no such a thing as editorial dignity as wel as personal dignity? And if a man sinks his personal dignity and prostitutes his editorial dignity who is the loser? Certainly not the Chief Executive of a great Nation who is assailed. It is simply the case of a dog baying

Of course it is expected that a thickand-thin Democratic organ will sneer at about every public utterance or act the administration. These come within the domain of legitimate criticism, however, and every allowance is made for even the most intemperate utterances. But there are instances in which it is poor partisanship to sneer. A criticism that is notoriously frivolous and unjust is a good deal worse than no criticism at all so far as party advantage goes.

A number of such criticisms have been offered on the President's message. For example, the President says:

This Government will continue to express administrative control of American

This a contemporary calls a "faint reaffirmation of the Monroe doctrine.' Does our neighbor expect a state paper to be couched in the classic language of Mr. Samson Potter of Texas?

Again, the critic says: "The telegraph had led us to expect a vigorous and quasi-warlike attitude by the administration on the Chilean question. On the contrary, nothing could be tamer. The lengthy message contains nothing that has not been better expressed in many newspapers of the United States. Instead of short and peremptory sentences, enforcing upon the republic of Chile the necessity of instant indemnity and apology for an incredible outrage on the American flag, the message con tains a labored defense of the bungling attitude of the United States towards the government of Balmaceda." If we have any proper conception of the English language the President handles the Chilean affair without gloves. Of course there is no whangdoodle declamation about it, but, in a dignified state paper, what he says is full of import. In describing the outrage at Valparaiso he thus expresses himself: So savage and brutal was the assault that several of our sailors received more than two, and one as many as eight, wounds.

Thirty-six of our sailors were arrested, nd some of them, while being taken to orison, were cruelly beaten and mal-

So far as I have been able to learn no explanation of this bloody work has been suggested other than that it had its origin in hostility to these men as sallors of the United States, wearing the uniform of their Government, and not in any individual or personal animosity.

The Chilean government was at once advised that if such qualifying facts did not exist this Government would confidently expect full and prompt reparation. It is to be regretted that the reply of the Secretary for Foreign Affairs of the provisional government was couched in an offensive tone.

If these just expectations should be disappointed, or further needless delay intervene. I will by a special message bring this matter again to the attention of Congress for such action as may be necessary.

Now, if there is anything mealy-mouthed or "tame" about this we fail mento on the subject might have used more violent language or not has no bearing on the case. In the understanding of diplomats President Harrison's words mean that the Government will secure reparation for a great wrong and insult or it will declare war. civilized world so construes the import of the message. It is only a caviling Democratic organ that considers such language tame.

As to the criticisms of that part of the message in which the President refers to the Itata affair, we think that no very important point is scored. Whether Judge Ross's decision upon the main case or upon a collateral branch, the general opinion of the Court was laid down that the insurgents could not be guilty of an infraction of neutrality because they were not a recognized government. The Court could not be expected to reverse itself in deciding the main issue. In giving the gravamen of the decision the President did not err or misquote and there was no necessity to enter into the minutiæ of the legal proceed ings to show just what part of the case had been acted upon and what had not As to the matter of an appeal from the main decision, that probably fore shadows the policy of the administration as soon as that decision is rendered About the character of the decision there is no doubt, and now we have the Government's policy defined also. There is no sense in splitting hairs about the matter.

It is somewhat ludicrous to see ho the Democratic press seizes the prejudiced comments of some newspapers of England and rolls them like sweet mor sels under the tongue. It is the Sack ville-West affiliation cropping up again It is founded on the English and Demo cratic sympathy for free trade and dis like of American protection. One English paper, voicing again the misrepresentation which seems to constitute their stock in denounces the message political clap-trap designed to catch votes. The hostile British press they are hitting Republican think institutions hard when they intimate that statesmanship is something beyond us-that our country is ruled entirely by ward politics. And while the Democratic papers mouth again the British strictures they are equally severe in charging the message meekness in its attitude toward Great Britain. There is a back-down in the Bering Sea question, they say. The reaffirmation of the Monroe doctrine is too tame. The lion's tail is not twisted enough. And there the matter rests, being unsatisfactory alike to the British aristocracy and the flerce bourbon Democracy And the Democratic press thinks it no inconsistent to voice both lines of criticism.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE.-When fashion rees that in the cause of sweet charity the ublic shall be mulcted of its surplus dollars the modus operandi usually takes the shape of a dramatic or musical entertainment, and the theory of the promoters is evidently that the more people engaged in the performance the greater its success will be. This was well illustrated last hight in the charitable entertainment embracing the representation of the musical pantomime called The Mistletoe Bough. There were so many people on the stage at one time as to make it a matter of wonder that the management could successfully control so large a body and at the same time produce such striking night in the charitable entertainment en could successfully control so large a body and at the same time produce such striking and picturesque results. But the energy of the ladies controlling the organization, including among others Mrs. H. T. Lee, Mrs. T. A. Lewis and Mrs. R. W. Poindexter, aided by the managerial ability of Seymour Locke, seemed sufficient to overcome the thousand and one obstacles that always beset the path of the entertainment promoter.

The selection of the piece was a happy one, and the succession of tableaux. Illustrative of the old, familiar story of. The Mistletoe Bough, "the words of which were charmingly sung by Mrs. J. S. Owens, made a most pleasing impression upon the audience. The chief parts in the action were sustained by Mrs. Mitchell and H. W. Latham as the bride and bridegroom and Col. Lee and Mrs. Eames as the baron and baroness, Miss G. Robinson as the house-keeper, Gregory Perkins as the teaward. Miss Mina Jevne as the May Queen and little Miss Ellis as the inquisitive child who makes the sad discovery in the last scene.

So large a number of participants being engaged, it is impossible to comment upon the performance of any particular individual. It must be sufficient to record the fact that the principal actors carried out the characters intrusted to them with very satisfactory evidences of ability.

It would be very easy to go into a rhapsody upon the beauty and grace, the charmingly tasteful costumes and even the dramatic abilities of the numerous young ladies who gave their aid and countenance to the cause of charity, but this course would naturally result in some discrimination which might be thought unfair. It must therefore be sufficient to say that the ladies and the gentlemen acquitted themselves exceedingly well, and that the spectacular effect of the piece with its artistic groupings, handsome costumes, colored electric lights and pretty music made an ensemble such as has perhaps never before been witnessed upon our local stage.

The introduced dancing, including the court minuet, the maypole dance and the country dance, were capitally given, and some tumbling by the youthful members of the Athletic Club brought out a good deal of applaise. The selection of the piece was a happy of applause.

The entertainment will be repeated tonight for the last time and may safely be patronized even by those who only look for value received. Those who are in sympathy with the charitable object of the entertainment will need no urging to attend.

ALMOST A HURRICANE.

Destructive Windstorm Yesterday Morning.

More or Less Damage Reported Throughout the County.

Several Churches Wrecked at Pasadena, as Well as Other Buildings.

The Gale Very Severe in the San Fernand Valley-Orange Orchards Fare Badly-Only One Life

The heaviest gale that has visited Southern California for years swept down on Los Angeles and vicinity early yesterday morning. The wind began to blow briskly between 3 and 4 o'clock Thursday morning, continuing all day. It increased after nightfall and at 1:15 o'clock yesterday morning it attained a velocity of twenty-six miles an hour. From this time on the wind kept up, and attained the maximum velocity. twenty-eight miles an hour, at 7:25 o'clock, from which time it steadily decreased until 1 p.m., at which time the breeze had almost entirely died out. NO DAMAGE IN THE CITY.

Comparatively speaking, no damage was done in the city. In the business section a few signs and awnings were blown down, but all the buildings escaped injury. In the residence portion there was some trifling damage, but nothing of a serious character. A few shade and fruit trees were blown down, some window glass was broken and several fences laid low. The chimney of E. E. Galbraith's residence on Angeleño Heights was blown off, and the structure slightly moved on the foundations. Among other minor casualties reported was the following. were the following: A small unoc-cupied frame house on First street near Bellevue avenue, belonging to Mrs. M. A. Nelson, was blown over and badly wrecked. The tin roof on the two-stor frame building just west of the viaduction First street was lifted up and carried across the street into a vacant lot. The First street ball park fence facing First street was blown down. The house of Fred Baker, an attorney, who resides on Primrose avenue, East Los Angeles, was blown down, and several small houses near the County Hospital were demolished. Fortunately no one was killed, or even injured.

The fire-alarm wires were partially demoralized, but by hard work they were kept in such condition that there was no interruption. In a few case telephone wires were blown down, bu the damage was soon repaired. The telegraph company, however, did not fare so well, for while there were no breaks in the city there was trouble on the lines outside, and for a time com nunication was entirely cut off and no afternoon press reports were received.

REPORTS FROM OUTSIDE DISTRICTS. At an early hour reports from outside districts began to come in, and as usual were greatly exaggerated. It was at first stated that Pasadena had been destroyed, but later this was contradicted. Although the damage at this place, which appears to have been directly in which appears to have been directly in the path of the storm. is very great, the little city is not knocked out, by a great deal. The storm was also very severe in the San Fernande Valley and the Glendale district, and much damage was done to buildings as well as to orchards. Passengers by the Santa Fee all report more or less damage, along orchards. Passengers of the all report more or less damage along the line between this city and San Ber-nardino, especially to the orange orchards.

BURNED TO BEATH. So far as reported but one life lost, and that was in the Verdugo Cañon. The house of an old man named Brown some distance up the cañon was completely wrecked by a violent gust of wind while the occupants were in bed. Brown escaped miraculously, but his wife was caught by some falling joists and penned in. To add to the night's horror a lamp, which had been left burning on a small table near the bed was overturned, and the rnins almost im mediately became ignited. The wind fanned the flames and almost before he realized what had happened Brown was compelled to witness the cremation of his wife without being able to render her any assistance.

the root of Lemman's blacksmith shop was lifted from the building, while Barney's store was totally destroyed by fire, which served to increase the ex-citement. By a stroke of good fortune the family escaped from the building unscathed, but their effects were totally Reports from the outside districts are somewhat meager, but so far as can be learned two small houses which were completely wrecked constitute the sum total of the damage at Eagle Rock, with the exception of course of the loss of the orange crop.

One of the most miraculous escapes during the storm was that experience by the family of John Dewing at Verdugo. The house in which they all assembled was litted bodily from its foundation and collapsed several feet away, completely wrecking the interior of the structure, yet, strange to relate, not one of the family was seriously hurt, their injuries being confined to a few cuts and bruises.

R. G. Doyle, foreman of Judge Ross's ranch at Yerdugo furnishes the following additional details: A tenement house on Judge Ross's barns were also wrecked.

A cottage of four rooms was blown off the foundation and partially unoff the foundation and partially un-roofed.

The top of the main steeple and parlor chimney of St. Hilda's Hall were blown off and seven or eight windows broken off and carried fifty or sixty feet through a lemon orchard. There are quantities or oranges on the ground and the trees are more or less broken.

At Burbank the Presbyterian Church was wrecked. Here and there along the Los Angeles River section barns and fences were wrecked.

At Los Feliz a Chinaman was caught under a flying roof and badly injured. Another Chinaman had the misfortune to get struck on the head by a falling

NO DAMAGE AT MONTE VISTA. Monte Vista is the only place in or near San Fernando Valley where the wind last night did not do great damage to trees and buildings. The mountains seem to have completely protected this place from the wind.

At Azūsa the storm was very severe and orange orchards were badly damaged. It was reported that the freight shed had been blown down and other buildings damaged. The barn on Spalding's ranch was completely demolished THE OLD MISSIONS It was reported that the old missions at San Gabriel and San Fernando were badly damaged but the full extent of the injury has not yet been ascertained.

AT MONROVIA The Holiness Church of Monrovia was wrenched from its foundation. The steeple of the Baptist Church was badly wrecked. Some of it was carried away. The Methodist Church also came in for severe treatment. The interior was badly demoralized by reason of great quantities of plaster. A colored family was deprived of a home in an instant. They were asleep when the gale picked up their house and carried it some distance. They were left in the middle of the floor. They found relief at a neighbor's house. Many barns and small buildings were either shattered or blown down, Three coaches on the Rapid Transit road were blown from the track. The morn-ing train from Monrovia did not arrive here till quite late in the forenoon. Considerable damage was also done at Alhambra, Garvanza and other points

FATALLY HURT.

AT THE WEATHER BUREAU. Observer Franklin was seen by Times reporter yesterday afternoon and stated that yesterday's "blow" was not the heaviest that Los Angeles had ex-perienced by a great deal. The maxi-num velocity of the wind was only twenty-eight miles an hour, whereas on January 8, 1882, there was a storm when the wind reached a velocity of forty-eight miles an hour. On this day the weather was clear, as in the present case. At this time the Southern Pacific depot was unroofed and considerable of the control of the co erable damage was done. Four years ago, December 14, 1887, there was another big blow, when the Canada Hotel went down.

When asked if he regarded the "blow" as the forerunner of rain Mr. Franklin said there were no indications of rain at this time. There was an area of high barometric pressure north and east, and in Southern California the barometer was low, which caused a vacuum and the air rushed in, causing a cyclonic movement. The humidity yesterday morning was only 15 per cent., which was very near absolute dryness. Mr. Franklin said he had received no reports, owing to trouble with the wires, but he did not anticipate any further disturbances. Below will be found detailed reports from outside points. AT PASADENA.

It was at this hour that the most serious storm that has ever visited Pasa-dena and vicinity made its appearance, and before it had spent itself almost incalculable damage had been done.

There was no rain, but beneath a cloud-less sky the winds held full sway and asserted their mighty power in a manner most emphatic The north wind that raged all day Thursday showed no signs of abating when night approached. During the evening and early part of the night it blew on with unabated vigor, making it decidedly unpleasant out of doors, so that the streeets were almost deserted Early yesterday morning the moon set under strange atmospheric conditions, which caused Officer Robins's prophetic soil to seent something decidedly dangerous. By 2:30 o'clock a veritable hurricane had struck the town. For three hours the gale lasted and when it passed over untold damage had been done to residence and business property and to orchards. and to orchards.

It is impossible to describe the storm or the damage it wrought. A list of the property owners who suffered loss and the orchards devastated gives no hint of the general air of desolation Trees divested of their verdure, lawns shorn of their handsomest bits of ornamentation, streets denuded of their shade trees, and the wind blowing furiously, made yesterday shorn seem very like a bleak wintry day back East, and made Pasadena res

IN THE BUSINESS SECTION. The damage was particularly notice-able in the business portion of town. Central Colorado street yesterday morning presented a most unusual sight. In front of the San Gabriel Valley Bank was heaped a huge mass of tin—the roof of Williams' Hali that had been parior chimney of St. Hilda's Hall were blown off and seven or eight windows wrecked.

The front glass, 6x12, in Dutton's store was blown out, and the tin roof rolled up and blown half the distance from the store to the depot.

At Judge Ross's residence five or six window lights were broken, and other buildings more or less in jured.

Mr. Doyle thinks that Crescenta suffered severely.

Capt. Thomas's big barn was unroofed.

Olive trees 6 or 8 inches through were broken off, and a big oak tree was carried clear across the street. The above but hints at the damage wrought in the business section. Hardly a sign was left standing in front of the stores, the big public clock was ignominiously swept away, but whether or not this may be counted as a misfortune is an over these time. as a misfortune is an open que most of the brick and iron roof mentations were blown down, of plate-glass windows were shattered and the telegraph, telephone and elec-tric light wires completely wrecked, cutting off local and outside communication entirely until late in the day.

James Smith had several huge plateglass windows broken, and the roof stripped from his building. His loss will mount high into the hundreds.
Wetherby & Kaysen had a big window broken and some roof ornaments blown down. They estimate the damages at down. They estimate the damages at $300. R. Williams's property was damaged to considerable extent. Justis Brockway had several large windows broken in his block, corner Marengo avenue and Colorado street, and pumerous other property. numerous other property owners and merchants were damaged to a greater or less extent. In the Brunswick billiard hall, which had just been repapered, the paper was almost entirely stripped from the walls. Several windows were broken at the Carlton and some of the iron, roof cornerstations some of the iron roof ornamentation blown off; otherwise the hotel suffered no damage. So much for the strictly business section.

THE CHURCHES SUPPER.

The churches suffered severely from

The Methodist Church, which handsome structure has long graced the corner of Marengo avenue and Colorado street, was almost completely wrecked. All night long the pastor, Rev. J. W. Phelps, and family anticipated the catastrophe that was to follow and remained out of doors much of the time fearing that the parsonage which ad-joins the church would be damaged. Shortly after 3 o'clock when the, storm had reached its height, the crash came. The steeple on the northwest corner was blown over. It struck the center was blown over. It struck the center of the roof and the entire roof with the steeple on top of it caved into the main auditorium, shattering the furniture and side walls beyond the possibility of repair. The building was viewed yesterday by hundreds of visitors and many photographs were taken of the ruins.

The damages will amount to from $12,000 to $15,000.

Not many minutes later the spire on

Not many minutes later the spire on the Presbyterian church succumbed to the gale. Fortunately it fell in the direction of the street, so that the church suffered no other damage. The Christian Church on South De-lacy street was pretty nearly entirely demolished. Fortunately the roof stood firm when it struck the ground and formed a safe covering to most of the furniture. The damage will amount to about $5000:

The North . Pasadena Congregational Church is literally razed to the ground. The building and furniture are total wrecks. The loss will foot up to about $1200. The German church in the vicinity of the Devil's Gate is twisted considerably from its normal condition, but can be righted without much trou-ble. The other churches were not damaged to any extent.

DESTRUCTION ELSEWHERE.

A two-story building on Broadway, near Kansas street, collapsed. It was used as a stable by C. S. Frost, and a valuable gray horse was crushed to death instantly. Several vehicles and a bicycle were also de-stroyed. Farther south on Broadway several huge evergreen trees in front of E. C. Webster's residence were olown down. A cottage near by be-onging to T. C. Lynch was moved from its moorings. On Marengo avenue many of the fine pepper trees fell vic-tim to the blast. Rev. James Kelso's house, now in the course of construction on Madison avenue, was blown completely off its foundations. The steam laundry building on Wilson avenue is a total wreck. The roof of the Star building on Union street was made to cut up high jinks. A two-story house on Lincoln avenue belonging to Charles French was demolished and F. L. Wilson's residence on Old Fair Oaks avenue was blown off its foundation. A small house belonging to Dr. Thomas, located near the Painter car barn, was razed to the ground. The roof of the car barn was swept away and numerous small buildings in the same vicinity were destroyed.

The Painter escaped with but little escaped with but little Policeman Robins was right. Less than half an hour after he had spoken thus Night Watchman Orr replied out of the fullness of his heart: "Officer Robins, let us seek shelter." and together the sticken roof was also the street of the stree damage. The Raymond was less for-tunate. Three high chimneys on the fied up considerably and the hay; shed was blown over. Olivewood store building was unroofed and a house in the same vicinity, be-longing to J. G. Shoup, blown down. A house on Dayton street, belonging to E. L. Johnson, was completely wrecked, the fronts were blown out of several frame buildings along South Fair Oaks avenue, formerly occupied as stores, and a sad plight was made of China-town, many of the celestials' flimsy residences quickly succumbing to the gale. Numerous barns outside of town were blown down. Some of the telegraph and electric-light poles were leveled to the ground and a large force of men were kept busily engaged all day untangling the debris. There was day untangling the debris. There was a great demand for roofers and window men. The hardware stores were thronged with window-glass purchasers and some difficulty was experienced in meeting the demand.

The above may help to convey to an outsider some faint idea of the destruction done to property in Pasadena or the night of December 10-11. The The statement will readily be believed that few people slept. The early morning were most anxious prominent citizen went with his family at 8 o'clock a.m. to his barn and spent the remainder of the night there. Others remained up, pacing the rooms and halls, not knowing when their homes would topple in upon them.

The oldest settlers say that no such storm ever before visited Pasadena. But little business was done yesterday, but the streets were thronged with people, many of whom had driven in from the country to take in the sights.

The electric lights were not in working order last night, which compelled many of the stores to close at dark.

The wind blew briskly and the streets were almost deserted after sunset. THE ORANGES SUFFER.

Strange to relate no lives were lost nor was any person injured, so far as known, by the storm.

The handsome peppers in front of W. E. Cooley's residence, on North Orange Grove avenue, were badly broken. It was reported yesterday evening that the Hotel San Gabriel had been blown down, but the story was given little credence.

AT SAN BERNARDING.

But Little Damage Reported—Church at Ontario Demolished.

The blustering north wind which began at 6 o'clock Thursday morning con tinued almost without intermission till late yesterday afternoon, when its ferocity was tamed somewhat and it was not such an uncomfortable undertaking to venture out on the 'streets as it'had been. Although the people of San Bernardino were put to some inconvenience by the "norther" they comforted themselves in the thought that they were not the only community visited by

it. The western end of San Bernar-dino county, seems to have suffered most, though from all reports the storm was not as severe at any point in this county as it was further west in Los Angeles At North Ontario the Presbyterian Church, a newly-erected structure, was blown to the ground and totally de-stroyed. The church was a filmsy building, and was a fair mark for the winds. The loss will be about $2000. In the same town the roof of the Sto well Block was blown off. This build-ing was occupied as the postoffice. At Ontario considerable damage was done to orange trees, a number being uprooted and destroyed in new orchards There will be a large number of wind-falls in other orange-growing districts of the county, though no severe damage to the trees themselves is reported. unconfirmed report was circu-An lated here yesterday to the effect that the Santa Fé depot at San Dimas, as well as several other buildings along the line of that road, were blown down. AS POMONA.

But Little Damage by the Wind-Orchards Comparatively Safe. Pomena people are unanimous in their congratulations to themselves in living in Pomona and not in some other locality during the recent windstorm which ended here at about 4 o'clock vesterday morning. They were inclined to be downcast on arising in the morning, but an examination revealed the fact that comparatively little damage was done, while reports from other sections contained accounts of great loss. The wind came directly from the north, as it did in a storm of like fury four years ago, and visited all parts of the valley, as it did then. To ascertain the extent of the injury The Times representative visited most of the orange-growers in the vicinity of Pomona, and found some fruit upon the ground and part of the leaves blown ground and part of the leaves blown off of the north side of many trees. A few branches were broken and one tree was seen uprooted, apparently beca it possessed but few and weak roots.

AT RIVERSIDE.

But Little Damage to the Orange Or-chards Reported. At Riverside, although the wind blew hard enough to be thoroughly disagreeable, the weather was calm compared to the hurricane that seems to have passed over Los Angeles county. A good deal of fruit is on the ground, but the oranges that fell were mostly culls, or otherwise inferior fruit that would not have been worth assorting anyway. The only thing that saved a greater loss to the growers was the fact that the oranges are mostly yet green and

No Storm at Santa Barbara. There has been no telegraph commu-nication between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara since Thursday evening up till 4 o'clock vesterday, the wires being down at San Fernando. The trainmen arriving here report that there was a heavy storm at that place Thursday night, taking off roofs, etc., and tearing down the telegraph

At Ontario.

The heaviest wind for years prevailed all along the foot hills Thursday night. It was a genuine norther, coming directly over the mountains. There is some damage to the orange crop in the upper part of Ontario. The loss is very slight over most of the tract. The Santa Fé depots at North Cucamonga, Claremont, Lordsburg. North Pomona, San Dimpas are reported damaged. The Presbyterian Church at North Ontario collapsed.

[New York Press.] A fair illustration of the way in which protection stimulates production and gives employment to workingmen is shown by the increase in the American output in pig iron. In 1886 the United States only produced 5,683,329 gross tons of pig iron.

In 1890 it produced 9,202,703 gross tons.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—[Copyright, 1891, by the New York Associated Press.] If the rural conference which opened yes-terday in London represented with ab-solute fidelity the spirit of the agricultural element of Great Britain the country would be on the eve of a social and political revolution. No assemblage of supposed representative men ever held in England displayed such venomed hostility to parsons and land owers. Delegates boasting themselves as persistent parson-fighters and deto the echo, and their scornful allusions to the patronizing airs of the clergy toward rural inhabitants were keenly The entire sympathy of the conference was reserved for the motto: Down with Church and Landlord! But it would be misleading to infer from the character of the conference that the rural poor has deserted the church en masse or have become infused with political designs against the squirarchy. The conference, while in-dicating clearly and actively an exist-ent force to be encountered in the com-ing elections, owes its great importance to its foreshadowing the future agricultural policy. When the spirit of the delegates permeates the electorate the hereditary privileges of landlordism and churchism will vanish. GLADSTONE DISAPPOINTS THE LIBERALS.

Current stories that the betrothal is due to the Duke of Clarence's persistent love under great opposition do not agree with the court reports. On the contrary it is known that the Duke of Clarence has long been enamored of Princess Helene of Orleans and that two years ago he personally declared his passion to the Compte de Paris and received assurances that Princess Helene reciprocated his love and both her father and mother approved the match, Princess Helene then went to Rome to put the question of a change of religion as an absolute necessity before the Pope, who told her it would be impossible that such a change should obtain his remotest sympathy. The position remained unsettled until the Prince and Princess of Wales became alarmed over the chance of the Duke of Fife nearing the throne. Pressure was then put on the Duke of Clarence on every side, family and cabinet reagons being adduced against an alliance with the house of France. This pressure led to his acceptance of Princess Victoria Mary, for whom he has shown a cousinly liking.

Helen Hunt's Grave.
[Philadelphia Press.]
Helen Hunt Jackson has slept for several years in peace and quiet in her grave on the side of old Cheyenne Mountain, on the winding road up to Pike's Peak, but her remains have been removed therefrom, and reinterred in a regular cemetery, for two reasons, one being that the place was desecrated frequently by thoughtless tourists destroying the wild look of nature thereabout—which state of nature was her main reason for desiring cards, the remains of luncheons, and so forth, in remains of luncheons, and so forth, in great profusion, giving the place a very untidy and unkempt look, while some vulgar tourists, being base as well as vulgar, indulged in unseemly orgies there, and the other reason is that a fela piece of and over which people desir-ing to visit the grave must go, and charged them a quarter of a dollar apiece for the privilege of going over the land. TO INTRODUCE the closing-out prices in our toy department we quote three prices only. They will give you a general idea of what you may expect on the balance. Children's toy carts, two wheels, body painted red. 15 cents each; same cart in larger size, 19 cents. Children's four-wheel wagons, body painted red, 25 cents; last season's price. 75 cents. The toy department is being sacrificed; this is the last season for toys. We only have about 400 carts and wagons left, there is a big bargain for anyone wanting toys, we expect to close the above lot of carts and wagons in a day. .

Do you know that the cloak department is having another big rush? A big lot of new cloaks and capes is the cause. You will see the best line in the city; the best light and the best-fitting goods. Moderate profits on cloaks; big sales, better treatment; there is the story; it is worth repeating over and over again. There is a big crowd at the notions and fancy goods counters. Handkerchief sale the largest we ever had; the prices are lower than a year ago and the stocks larger and better assorted. Feather boas and collars, $2 up to $5; about one-half value, and the most fashionable article of the season. Big sale of dolls and pocket-books; best and cheapest line in the town. They all say it and the sales indicate it. Fifty and 75-cent neckwear for 19 cents. Big display in south show window. There is one fact that is evident; if you don't buy you get good treatment; you get the best possible attention. This should encourage you to call and see what we have on display.

A gold dollar is worth 100 Cents

North, South, East or West.

We have never been able to buy one for less. This fact should be considered by the would be owner of an orange grove. A good thing costs money, and is always the cheapest in the end. We are in receipt of dozens of letters inquiring why we are asking $120 per acre for Alessandro Land, while there are thousands of acres advertised in full length columns of as many newspapers at less than half the price.

Ours are Gold Dollars.

That never sell below par. No prugent man will invest his money in any of these wildcat schemes, promising great returns for a small outlay; they are very enticing to the weary toiler on the stony farms of the East, looks well on paper, but never materialize; you put your money in but never get it back.

If you are coming to Southern California for health, profit, or both, you want to invest your money where there is not the least possible chance of failure. That place is

ALESSANDRO,

Which has everything in its favor: The most beautiful location: the finest climate in the world; the best soil: the best water right of any irrigation district in Southern California, and one of the strongest Companies back of it in the State, composed of men of unlimited means and business capacity, who have made a success of everything they have undertaken. Alessandro also owes its success not only to above, but largely to the character of the men who have come there to make it their future homes. A class of thrifty, intelligent, industrious men, who have already made their presence felt, and are living there today in moderate luxury, comfort and good health. With such a class of settlers already on the land and constantly arriving, we predict that

IN FOUR YEARS' TIME

Alessandro will be the Model City of Southern California.

He who invests his money today in Alessandro lands takes no chances and makes no mistakes. The price is still $130 per acre. Every newcomer, every new length of pipe, every dollar laid out in improvement, increases the value of eyery acre of the truct. While you sleep your land grows in value. People, "plenty of them, are rich today who bought land in Redlands four years ago, simply by the advance. He who buys Alessandro land at $130 per acre will reap the same reward and more, for the advance will be more rapid and sure. Full description, particulars, maps, etc., sent on application to

The secretary tendered a financial re-port for the week, showing a balance of $740.04. Bills to the amount of $32.20 were passed.

The resignation of M. T. Allen was read and accepted with regret.

A communication from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce asking for assistance in the securing of national legislation on the subject of pilot charges and regulations was read and referred to the Committee on Laws and Legislation.

the several local papers came up and was discussed, but no conclusive action was taken.

The secretary was instructed to proceed in the matter of printing the new membership lists in the form of a new guide book for Los Angeles. The board then adjourned.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING.
The Chamber of Commerce held its mouthly meeting last evening, and a long list of resolutions and reports occupied the attention of the members.

SECRETARY'S REPORT. Secretary Willard made the following

Secretary Willard made the following official report:

To the Chamber of Commerce: In the time which has clapsed since the members of the chamber last came together in regular session the work of the organization has proceeded in a very satisfactory manner. The exhibit room has been well filled every day, a large percentage being excursionists and new settlers from the East. The intending settler, whether he is decided or not as to his ultimate location, is brought first to Los. Angeles by the railroad. It is the metropolis of the section, and he feels it his duty to pay it a visit. The chances are that some time during his first days in the city a sign will meet his eye—either at his hotel or in the street ears, or at his restaurant, or in some store window—which informs him that there is a free exhibit of California products at the Chamber of Commerce on Main street. At several of the hotels the clerks are instructed by the proprietors to mention the existence of the exhibit to all guests. The result is that at the present time probably 95 per cent of all tourists and settlers who come to Los Angeles visit the exhibit. At the present time we are accommodating about 10,000 visitors a month. In this connection it may be well to state that the exhibit, though the largest and finest of its sort anywhere in the West, is constantly improving, so that a man who has not seen it for three or four months woulf-now find it full of new and interesting material. official report: now find it full of new and interest ing material.

The dinancial condition of the chamber continues good, as the statement for the month of November herewith submitted

At the beginning of the month bills to the amount of about $450 are, accustomed of fall due, which makes the actual balance in the treasury only about $500. Less ifficulty is experienced at the present time with the collection of dues than at any line since your present secretary has been notified. The Board of Directors refuse my resignation when the dues are not paid up, and as a consequence very little is lost through that source. The board during he last month has been called upon to coninp and as a consequence very little is lost through that source. The board during the last month has been called upon to consider five resignations. The following resolutions were offered and adopted:

Resolved, by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, that this body most heartily indoreses the unequivocal position taken by the President in his annual message to Congress in relation to the Nicaragua Canal, recommending the early completion of this most important commercial highway through a guarantee of the bonds of the canal company by the United States Government, and the consequent governmental control and supervision of the canal. Resolved, that this chamber recognizes the present gigantic struggle among the foremost nations of the earth to secure, each for itself, commercial advantages through trade regulations, reciprocity treaties, aided industries and the opening up of new markets with other matiens; and we draw therefrom the conclusion that commercial and national supremacy very largely are dependent one on the other. $13.75 PER ACRE.

SPECIAL excursion to Gila Bend, Arizona, Tuesday, December 15th, 1891.

The Gila Bend Reservoir and Irrigation Company of Arizona have 250,000 acres of government land under their canal system, subject to entry under the Homestead or Desert Land Laws, which can be secured at $13.75 per acre, including a perpetual water right of 1 inch to 3 acres. These lands are adapted to raising citrus fruits as well as all other products common to a semi-tropic climate. The Special Committee of the United States Senate report No. 928, part I, May 5th, 1890, page 60, after seeing Southern California and all the arid and irrigible regions, say of the Gila Valley lands: "Within our border there cannot be found a soil so uniformly fertile and so capable of varied production under irrigation as that of the valleys of the Gila, Salt and Sanfa Cruz Rivers in Southern and Central Arizona; analysis of this soil shows its fertile qualities to be superior to that of the Nile earth." Over 4000 acres of this Gila Valley land has just been taken up by a colony of Riverside fruit growers, which is sufficient evidence of its superiority. For full information and pamphlets, call on or address C. W. MAXSON, General Agent Gila Bend Reservoir

[Senator Vest in Forest and Stream.]

Forty miles from the historic and unique city of San Autonio with its Alamo, and Missions and Mexican plaza, are the Guadalupe Mountains, through which flows the river of that name gurgling, leaping and frolicking like a rivulet, until it settles down into a calm, majestic river of the plains and placidly majestic river of the plains and placidly pours its waters into the gulf.

These mountains, as they are called, although they are really only hills, are 1600 feet above the ocean, and the temperature in summer is from twelve to fifteen degrees lower than in San Antonia. The air is dry and absolutely pure, without a suspicion of malaria. There is a tradition in the neighborhood that a nomadic physician once settled in Waring, a station on the Arkansas Pass Railroad, which runs through the mountains, and built him an office, but after six months without a patient he left in disgust. As a resort for persons afflicted with throat or lung disease it is unequaled. Deer, turkeys, emperature in summer is from twelve disease it is unequaled. Deer. turkeys, quail and squirrel can be found every where. The valleys are very fertile and produce large crops of corn, cot-ton, oats and wheat, while the mount-ains afford fine grazing, and are covered with live oak, pecan and post oak trees. Water pure and sweet is abund-

We caught our minnows near the ranch house in Syster Creek, a tributar of the Guadalupe River, and after five-miles ride reached the mouth o Cypress Creek, whereowe proposed to fish. It was an ideal spot for the fisherman, and we hurriedly jointed our rods and adjusted reels and lines for the

The side of the river on which we The side of the river on which we stood was level, with thick weeds and undergrowth on the banks, except in one place where an open, gravelly beach sloped to a clear pool, at the foot of which the water dashed over a cascade as beautiful and romantic as the falls of Minnehaha. On the opposite side of the fiver rose a wall of rock several the river rose a wait of rock several hundred feet high with miniature caves and pinnacles jutting from the face, and evergreens holding a precarious footing in the clefts and rifts. It was a wild scene, seldom visited by man; one of those nooks yet left where the crash those nooks yet left where the crash and roar of civilization cannot be heard.

What interested us for the time, however, far more than the scenery, was the sight of bass, some of them quite large, floating lazily in the pool and utterly indifferent to our presence. It was evident that they had not seen enough of our predatory race to be apprehensive of danger. My friend, J. M. George of San Antonio made the first cast, and immediately hooked a largecast, and immediately hooked a large mouthed black bass weighing a pound or perhaps a quarter more, which he landed without ceremony. Gen. Russ of San Antonio, an experienced and energetic sportsman, had instinctively sought the place where the little waterfall promised a con-genial home for bass, and in a few mogenial home for bass, and in a few mo-nents had caught quite a string, but none of large size.

Your correspondent, after catching a few small fish, wandered up the stream and soon found deep water in a long and soon found deep water in a long pool with lilies and other aquatic plants dotting the surface. My tried and reliable split bamboo rod had been left in Missouri, for I had not expected to use it on the trip, and I had borrowed a showy-jointed cane from Gen. Russ, which was fair to look upon, but as de-ceitful and uncertain as some other ob-jects of alluring appearance well known to all of us in our vouta, After making one or two casts with a large chub for bait, the objective point being an eddy below a rock, the exact spot was reached, and, with the rush of a great bass, he was hooked and fighting for life.

I have caught many large fish and game ones, but never did I feel one that proved himself of royal blood more distinctly than this monarch of the Guadalupe. With nerves strung and blood tingling I watched every point in the fight and was consident of victory, but in trying to prevent the fish from reaching some roots and brush I was forced to give him the but of the rod, when the treacherous joint next to rod, when the treacherous joint next to the tip snapped and the prize escaped. It is useless to dwell upon the disgusting memory or to spend time conjecturing what the fish weighed. He is gone, thanks to that gaudy cheat of a rod, and if I have any wish to express on and if I have any wish to express on the subject now it is that I could hook and play for a few moments the fellow who made the rod.

We had brought with us from the ranch the necessary cooking utensils, and our colored driver, lke, than whom a better outdoor cook or more worthy man does not live, soon had ready a dinner of fried fish fresh from ice-cold water, with bread, butter and strong coffee, which "would have put an appe-tite in the jaws of death."

My rod was past mending, but after dinner I wandered again up the river, and near some water lilies hooked a three-pounder which I landed after a hard fight with one joint of the rod gone. Altogether we caught thirty bass, and as the last rays of the sun hissed the tree tops in the waller.

How the Big Windstorm Served the Roads.

The Southern Pacific Playing a Game at San Pedro.

An Attempt to Cut off the Terminal's Ferry.

Commissions on Tramps-General, Local and Personal Railroad Mention.

The railroads of this region suffered considerably from the windstorm. The Southern Pacific between Los Angeles and Colton to the east, and Los Angeles and Newhall to the north, was strewn with fallen telegraph poles. The wires between the points named were nearly all down and train dispatching had to be done by schedule and smoke. The Santa Fé suffered in a similar manner between this city and San Bernardino, though no complete report of damages had been received up to last evening. The Terminal road suffered in a variety of ways. As this road has no telegrap poles up yet for the winds to dally with other property was attacked. Two sta-tion buildings on the Altadena branch— at Painter and Arroyo Grande—were blown away. On the line to Long Beach and San Pedro the road was made impassable in places_by great gaps blown in the sand ballasting. The winds had in places played mischief with the roadbed. It is thought that the losses by each of the roads named will count up pretty well when the re-turns are all in. SOUTHERN PACIFIC AT SAN PEDRO.

At 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon on of the Wilmington Transportation Com pany's lighters, carrying a pile-driver and crew, suddenly made its appear-ance at the south end of the Southern Pacific Company's wharf in San Pedro and work was at once commenced at driving a single row of piles in a south erly direc ion from the present termi nus of the Southern Pacific wharf. The work was started so suddenly and has been pushed with so much vigor that it is quite evident there is something in the wind. The Wilmington Transpor-tation Company's pile-driver worked all night, and the Treight train which usually leaves San Pedro at 5 a.m. was dispatched at 2 a.m. and returned from Los Angeles at an early hour yesterday morning with another pile-driver and crew, which were started at work during the day. The water front on which this extension of the Southon which this extension of the South-ern Pacific Company's wharf is being built is claimed by the city of San Pedro, and the municipal authorities were about ready to build a small piece of wharf there for a boat landing and ferry slip, and the action of the South-ern Pacific people in extending their wharves at this time, when they have really a good deal more wharf room than they have any use for, is evidently for the purpose of preventing the city for the purpose of preventing the city from using any portion of the water front which may be available for a ferry landing. A committee of the Board of Trustees came to Los Angeles for the purpose of getting legal advice as to what can be done to prevent the Southern Pacific Company from taking possession of the disputed water front-

C. J. Fox, a San Diego civil engineer, writes to the Sun of that city picking flaws with the statements of ex-Congressman Vandever regarding the feasibility of building a railroad eastward from Bay'n-climate. Mr. Fox. with due respect to Mr. Vandever, asserts that the United States military engineers gineers who surveyed the country about forty years ago knew very little about railroad building with all its possibili-ties of the present day. At that time railroad building was comparatively in its infancy. No engineer would have dared to undertake such works as the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad through the Marshall Pass, or the Colorado Mid-land or California and Oregon over the Siskiyou Mountains, or the Brooklyn bridge, or many other enterprises since successfully built. Four per cent. grades and thirty degree curves would have been considered absurdities. These facts he cites to excuse their decision that no-road could be built over the mountains of San Diego county. He asserts that a railroad can be built from San Elego in an easterly direction through the Ca-jon. Santa Ysabel and Warner's ranch to the summit of Warner's Pass, and from there down through the San Felipe to the level of the Colorado desbe heavier than those of the Southern

A railroad could also be built from Los Angeles by way of Temescal and its tin mine Temecula, Aguanga and Warner's ranch to Warner's Pass to an inter-section with the road from San Diego. This route would be even more favorable than the other and would open up might be competed for by Los Angeles and San Diego. Hon. R. M. Widney—My DEAR SIR: Your interesting letter of the 13th inst. has been carefully read in connection with your address before the Commercial Congress at Kansas City. Like you. I have been a student of all these financial questions and I agree with you that the free coinage of silver will not give the slightest relief to either the real or fancied difficulties of the time. I agree that the currency question should be dealt with entirely by the United States and not by the States, and that some general system must be devised to supersede the national banks, which though excellent in many respects must surrender their circulating notes when the government bonds are paid. I also agree that only gold and silver can be made the ultimate standard of value, but the forconvenience of circulation credit money in some form must exist to an amount necessary for the business of the country, that it must be promptly redeemable in gold and silver and that it should rest alone upon the authority of the government. People who have been detained indoors by the tempestous weather of the past few days and thus prevented from availing themselves of the very extraordinary bargains offered by the Pacific Loan Cos great closing-out sale of silverware at 215 South Broadway (Potomac Block,) will be delighted to hear that the causes that kept them at home operated likewise in keeping others there, and as a consequence the goods have not yet been disposed of and the sale is to be continued for one more week. There is still a chance to surply themselves with stadard first-class silverware of modern and beautiful design at one-half its original price, with the further advantage of selecting what they want, taking ern and beautiful design at one-half its original price, with the further advantage of selecting what they want, taking it home, testing it, and if for any reason they are dissatisfied with it, returning it and getting their money back. There never has been a fairer sale in this city, and certainly none in which the stock was so extensive and varied and the prices so low. As a local contemporary truly remarks: Thousands of people have taken advantage of this sale to get the finest goods, at just one-half of dealers prices. There are many who have not yet availed themselves of this chance of a lifetime. Christmas is right at hand, and it will be a gratification to know that the gates are not to be closed for a few days yet. The metropolitan proportions of this stock leave still to be sold as fine goods as any heretofore offered. The Police Won the Final Tug with the French, Thus Saving Themselves from a Whitewashing-The

The time is fast coming when Los Angeles will take her place as the first sporting city west of the Missouri past either, when the great interna-tional tug-of-war at Hazard's Pavilion would not have drawn fifty people a night, but a wonderful change has taken place, and for five nights the attendance has averaged between 4000 and 5000 souls nightly.

It is the same in all legitimate sports in Los Angeles, if the public is assured that there is to be no fake, and if the people are not humbugged, and soon managers of all athletic sports who conduct their entertainments on the square will make money in this city.

The attendance last night was larger than at any time since the contest began, and one noticeable feature was the number of ladies present, and for that reason it is a pity that the poorest music of the week was furnished, for with an entertainment of that kind the best music in the market should have been employed, but everything in the city was taken up at other places and the boys could do no better. By 8:30 o'clock every seat on the main floor was taken and both galleries were crowded to overflowing, giving the managers the biggest house of the

That they have been a hundred per cent. more successful than they ever be-lieved they would be there is no doubt, but then it must be remembered that the seventy members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club have worked faithfully to make a winning, as they are to put every cent in the new athletic grounds on Seventh street, and all the boys are anxious to see the finest grounds in the United States in this coming sporting city of the world, and they have won, for the club now has money enough to do as it pleases with the grounds.

The first pull last night between the Irish and German teams was one of the most exciting tugs yet witnessed. It is true that the Germans were defeated in eight minutes and thirty-four and one-half seconds, but they should be proud of their pull, for the Irish team is the heaviest team in the tour-nament and has been greatly strength-ened since pulling the American team.

The next tug, pulled by the police and French, created considerable excitement, as neither team had won a single tng and both were out for blood.

This tug was the longest of the evening and was won by the police in twenty-three minutes and fifty-one seconds, but two of the police team were so badly used up that they fainted before they could get away from the tup platform. The third and last tup between the Spanish and Americans was not a surprise to anyone who had seen the Amer-icans pull. The Americans won in thirty-two secoeds.

THE FIRST TUG. The first tug last night was between the Irish and Germans. The Irish had three tugs and the Germans two to start the evening's entertainment, and as the Germans were very anxious to tie both the Irish and Spanish, who had three tugs also up to last night, it could be seen from their faces when they entered the Pavilion and made their way to their dressing-rooms that they had de-cided to win if possible. Both sides were confident of success, and when they took their places on the tug platform at 8:25 all were smiling and happy, and seemed confident of suc-

The "go" pistol was fired at 8:30.
The Irish adopted the rush tactics at the pop of the referee's pistol, but the little German team held them level for proved too much for them and they gave away two feet, and during the next three minutes the Irish carried away four more feet and won the victory in eight minutes and thirty-four and one-half seconds, giving them the

The audience went wild with excitement and applauded both teams loudly, had they been able to hold the Irish five minutes longer it is almost certain that they should have won the tug. The Irish anchor man was so used up and police, and as neither team had won a tug there was considerable interest taken in this pull. Betting was about even, with a slight advan-tage on the side of the French, as many people thought the French as many people thought the French would pull the blue-coats.

The police made a kick on the grounds that several new men had been smug-gled into the French team and demanded that both teams be weighed again. The police were weighed the first night and a total of 2050 pounds was piled up against them, and when they were weighed last night they had gained seventeen pounds, showing that they had not hurt themselves to any they had not hurt themselves to any great extent. The French weighed 1825 pounds the night before and 1900 pounds last night, showing that they had changed men.

tug platform at 9 o'clock and the "go" pistol was fired by the referee at 9:11.

On the start the police took the rope about two inches, but at the end of five minutes the French took it back and got away with six inches, but the police took the rope back in ten minutes and held it on the center line. During the next two minutes the police took six ighes, and at the end of fifteen minutes the police had taken away one foot of rope, and as both teams seemed vigorous and full of pull the prospects for a long tug were good.

The police finally got the rope at twenty minutes and made a steady pull up to twenty-three minutes, going a few inches at a time, when they made a rush and won their first victory in twenty-three minutes and fifty-one seconds. Stewart and Henry McLain were used up worse than any of the men since the tournament began, for both men fainted. It was a very stubborn little pull and with as been in Los Angeles for the past two weeks, is dangerously ill at the argyle with a complication of diseases.

The Americans held four tugs and the Spanish three.

The Spanish weighed 1889 pounds and the Americans 2034 pounds. Both teams were in splendid condition, and the Americans were never more confident, for their success is something wonderful and they have an idea that no team in the United States can pull them.

The teams took their places at 9:47. and the Spanish wore a look which plainly said they proposed to hold the big fellows as long as possible if nothing else.

The "got" pistol was fired by the referee at 9:50.

The Americans took the rope as soon as the pistol was fired, and walked away with it on their old rush tactics, carrying it home in just thirty-two seconds thus bringing the greatest contest Los Angeles ever saw to a close. THE PRIZES.

The prize money was then distributed

As soon as the managers have settled up their accounts 50 per cent. over $2500 of the gross receipts will be divided between the various teams. Capt. Roberts stated last night that four of his team, including McLean and Stewart, who fainted, have been too sick to pull all the week, and this is one of the chief reasons why the team was not more successful.

SENSATIONAL AFFAIR.

A Young Clerk Induces a Girl to Leave Her

Dr. Dawson, the medical electrician on Broadway, who is the father of a pretty sixteen-year-old girl, called at the central police station at midnight last night and told a pitiful story. The tears were streaming down his cheeks and his voice was so broken that he coul hardly be understood.

He stated that some months, ago a young clerk in one of the big stores on Spring street rented a room in his house on Broadway and his wife and daugh-ters treated him as one of the family, until they noticed that he was paying particular attention to the old man's six teen-year-old daughter. The old folks did all in their power to put a stop to the love-making, not only because the girl is too young to marry, but for the reason that they did not think the clerk

Last night the young woman told her mother that she was going to a church rehearsal of some kind, and as the old lady was under the opinion that the clerk lover was out of town she allowed her daughter to go.

When the time for the girl to return came and went the mother became anxious and started out to find the girl. She had gone but a short distance when she was thunderstruck to see the lover coming toward her. The fellow walked boldly up to the old lady and handed her a note from her daughter. With trembling hands the note was opened, and on reading it the mother grabbed the young man by the arm and quite a struggle took place, for he became frightened at her condi-tion and fought for all that was out in a vain effort to get away, but the en-raged mother was too much for him and when he gave in she hissed through her teeth:

"So it is too late for my daughter to come home, is it? You made her write this note telling me that she will stay with friends tonight, did you? Well, she won't stay with friends unless I am one of the party, so you had just as well take me with you to where she is, well take me with you to where she is, for I don't propose to leave your side until I find my poor child," and the old lady hung to him like grim death.

Seeing that she meant business and having tested her strength, the tissue-paper man gave in for the time being and headed for Hill street with his portly company having tested her strength. portly enemy hanging on his arm. He told her that he would take her straight to her daughter and led her to a house on Hill near Third.

He came to a standstill at the gate and whispered to the old lady that the people had gone to bed and she had better remain outside until he went in and brought her daughter out.

As soon as he got inside the gate he slammed it and ran for dearlife around the house. The old lady realized in a second that he was giving her the dodge and ran after him as fast as she could, but when she reached the back yard he was out of sight and she had to the dock. trudge home alone. healer of sickness and all diseases.

For a long time I have been suffering with bladder and kidney troubles. No doctoring or medicines seemed to do me good. I consulted the best physicians and surgeons in Los angeles city. They gave me morphine and drugs, but no relief could I obtain. After suffering great pain and having my passage almost entirely clogged. I fourteen days ago began using Dr. Woh's medicines. Today I am perfectly well. I do-consider Dr. Woh'th most successful physician in Southern California.

Society turned out en masse last night to witness the presentation of The Mistletoe Bough at the Grand Opera-house. Fashion's devotees trod the boards behind the footlights in the baron's ancestral halls, where the wedding festivities of the gallant Lovell and fair Genevra were celebrated, and the social element of the city was largely represented in the audience. Friday evening is always the busiest night of the week in social circles and last evening was no exception to the

The crowd at the Christmas Carnival in Turnverein Hall was much larger than on the opening night in spite of than on the opening alght in spite of the counter attractions. Prof. G. A. Hough gave one of his humorous selections and Miss Josie Hoback told "How a Woman Buys Meat." Miss Mabel Astbury gave a banjo solo, Pearlie Gleason, a Quaker song and dance in costume, and Mrs. J. Horton sang two-selections. Arend's orchestra furnished excellent music, and a dance followed the programme. orchestra furnished excellent music, and a dance followed the programme. The officers of Stanton Corps, Messrs. Alexander, Adams and Hartwell, were each presented with a beautiful handpainted silk apron by the members of the corps, and Mrs. Hayes, a former army nurse, was similarily remembered, it being her birthday anniversary. The booths did a rushing business, and dinner was serve to a big crowd at noon. The hall was handsomely decorated with flags, crossed swords and suspended drums. Two small mounted orated with flags, crossed swords and suspended drums. Two small mounted cannon, through the courtesy of Mr. Slotterbeck, graced the platform. When the orchestra struck up a lively waitz the floor was filled with dancers, pretty girls and gallant escorts in handsome military uniforms. The programmes were elegantly gotten up with an illuminated cut on the front and gilded lettering. Altogether the affair was as brilliant as are all the balls given by this company. A TRIO OF ART RECEPTIONS, The elevator in the Bryson-Bonebrake Block was in good demand yesterday on account of the trio of art receptions going on away up in the sky parlors of the big building, where are cosily en-sconced a corps of artists so high up that nothing can get between them and the light. Miss Coan, who has just es-tablished her studio here since her return from the north, exhibits a large variety of artistic work in the way of oil paintings, water colors, pen and ink and pencil sketches and tapestry. She is a pupil of the Art Students' League in New York and well-developed natural talent speaks from every canvas. All her figures are from life and the faces of some of the little Los Angeles newsboys peep out with all their native sprightliness. Miss Coan's fruit pieces are especially fine, pomegranates and purple figs, yellow peaches, lemons and clusters of grapes making a tempting array. A view of Mt. Tacoma enveloped in haze, its snowy crest just peeping from the impenetrable veil, is one of the particularly lovely pieces Miss Coan brought with her from the north, and another of Snoqualnie Falls gives a wonderful study of light and shade on the falling

Mrs. Minnie Canby-Jones, a Chicago Aris. Minnie Canoy-Jones, a Chicago artist recently come to Los Angeles, has several pictures on exhibition in Miss Coan's studio. A pastel of little Wright Coulter, the son of Frank Coulter, presents a lovely blue-eyed, golden-haired chubby face which is a perfect image of the child. A sleeping perfect image of the child. A sleeping baby is wonderfully well done, and a crayoning shows the beautiful face of a young girl.

It is like entering a flower garden to stand within the portals of Miss Edith White's studio on the same floor, one is so entirely surrounded by beautiful blossoms on canvas. A pail of Mariposa lilies and a clump of scarlet geraniums growing beside an adobe wall are esillies and a clump of scarlet geraniums growing beside an adobe wall are especially lovely and natural. A bowl of yellow chrysanthemums on a pretty Japanese stand, and roses, heliotrope and bollyhocks blooming from the canvas, all about lend reality to the delusion of a genuine floral garden. A Chinese basket filled with flaming Tokays and black Hamburgs make a pleasing contrast to the otherwise entirely floral exhibit.

FLOWER FESTIVAL RECEPTION.

The ladies of the Flower Festival Society gave a very delightful "At Home" yesterday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Home, No. 125 East Fourth street.

The spacious parlor and dining-room beyond were thrown together for the occasion and flowers and smilax deco-rated chandeliers, mantels and tables. The guests were received by Mrs. A. L. Flint, president of the society, assisted Flint. president of the society, assisted by Mrs. Slauson, Mrs. Prager, Miss Lindley and other ladies of the board. Tea and cake were served and after a pleasant chat the guests were given an opportunity to go through the house, which has been put in splendid order. Los Angeles may well be proud of this institution, the outcome of one of her pioneer charitable associations, where fifty homeless young ladies, who are preparing to enter upon self-supporting paring to enter upon self-supporting vocations, may find a comfortable home at a merely nominal rate, the price being in proportion to their ability to pay. It has often been said that the truest charity is to help one to help An excellent opportunity is now offered to secure elegant presents for tae holiday season at prices below cost. These goods consist of Silk Dress Patterns, and this is exemplified here. The building is thoroughly warmed by a furnace, with registers opening in all the halls: the rooms are handsomely furnished and a glance into the cunnary department is convincing proof that the table is well supplied. The perfect appointments of pantries, kitchen and dining-room are those of a model boarding-house, and here in this comfortable home are sheltered the girls who, by worldly misfortune or accident of birth, are thrown upon their own resources and are endowed with the talent and the pluck to make an independent livelihood. The bright young girls who, a few years hence, will have reached positions of credit will look back to thank the good women of the Flower Festival Society for women of the Flower Festival Society for the helping hand so graciously extended in their early struggles. Among the guests present yesterday were: Mimes. I. N. Van Nuys, D. G. Stephens, J. E. Cowles, M. Hughes, F. H. Shoemaker, Butler, A. E. Pomeroy, F. L. Grosvenor, F. Wiggins, J. M. Stewart, C. E. Day, Miss Heath, Miss Fette and others.

THE TORREY ART RECEPTION. A large number of art lovers found their way yesterday up to the top floor of the California Bank building, where Eugene Torrey, the artist, held a reception. Nearly all of Mr. Torrey's work represents life abroad. One of work represents life abroad. One of the most striking paintings is a copy of Jules Brenton's famous picture "The Gleaners." The peasant women laden with their sheaves are hastening from the harvest field in obedience to the call of the guard, and over all is the wonderful afterglow of a brilliant sunset.

Another painting of especial interest Another painting of especial interest is "The Town Crier." which is a faithful interpretation of street life in a raral French village. The mayor has just issued a proclamation and the old crier is reading it to a crowd of peasants gathered about him representing all phases of life—the corpulent washerwoman, the cook with the long loaf of French bread under her arm, the flower merchant with his barrow full of potted plants and in the center of the motley group towers the tail form of a French it is interesting to know that all these people represented were personally known to Mr. Torrey.

There are glimpses of high life in Paris, street scenes and an evening scene of the sphynx in Egypt with the shepherds camping beneath its shadow. Mr. Torrey shows an original sketch of Rosa Bonheur's which he bought in 1876 of an old Frenchman, a former servant of Bonheur's at Fontaineblean. The canvas is worn entirely through in laces and the paint is falling off, but the white or its arter.

In another room is a collection of exquisite water colors, the style of painting now so much in vogue. The coloring is perfect, and the subjects are largely French peasants, fisher girls in all sorts of graceful poses, and views along the Normandy coast. A large painting facing the entrance, beautifully executed, represents the Italian national dance—the Tarantelle. This was taken from life near Naples. Of local pictures the one, "Fate of the Prize Chrysanthemum," is the most taking. It represents Mrs. T. A. Lewis' two pet dogs, an English pug and "Mick," who are having a regular pitch battle in the conservatory among the chrysanthemum, to the complete described of the force.

MRS. KRUSICK'S STORY. She Says She Was Ravished at the Point

The friends of Mrs. Krusick, who deserted her husband, Joseph Krusick of Gridley. Butte county, a few weeks ago and took up her residence at the Jackson House in this city, came to the conclusion, after reading the story of her troubles in yesterday's Times, that she had better give her side of the story, which she did in about the following language:

The night before Thanksgiving my hus

Inguage:

The night before Thanksgiving my husband consented to let me go to a party with a couple of lady friends of ours named Alterton. They had their escorts home from the ball, but I went along with them, and after we had gone a short distance their brother, Ernest, overtook us and walked along by my side. I have known him since he was a baby, and as I am 40 years of age I never thought of such a thing as his being in love with me.

"He walked along by my side a few steps when he ordered me to stop, and told me that he understood I intended to run away from my husband. I denjed this at first, but as I had some talk with his sisters a few days before on that subject I knew that they had told him, so I told him that I had said something about it, but that I was only joking. He then became quite violent and told me that he had made up his mind to have me for his own. He pointed to a barn and told me that if I did notgo with him to the barn he would shoot me. At the same time he drew a pistol, telling me that if I called for help and did not start for the barn before he counted three he would shoot me.

He began to count and I started for the barn. He walked along behind me and when we entered the barn he ravished me at the point of his pistol. He then said he was going away for a few minutes, but if moved before he returned he would shoo me on sight.

was going away for a tew minutes, out if i moved before he returned he would shoot me on sight.

As soon as he left me I jumped up and started for his sister's home. They had arrived some time before and when I told them what had happened they simply laughed at me and told me I should be ashamed of myself to tell such a story on a boy who was as innocent as a lamb.

Their conduct so frightened me that I could not go home, so I walked about all night, and the next morning I borrowed $40 and came to Los Angeles. I have little children at home whom I love dearly, and I would give anything in the world to go back to my husband, but I don't know what kind of a story the Alfertons have told him and I am afraid to go back.

Recommend that the protest from Charles M. Stimson et al. against the grading of Boston street be referred to the City Engineer and City Attorney for their report as to the amount of frontage and legality of signatures.

Recommend that the communication from Stockwell Bros., relating to the protest against the extension of Hoff street, be filed.

In the matter of removing obstructions

In the matter of removing obstructions from and opening Adams street east of San Pedro street, as per motion of Mr. Alford, we recommend that the Street Superintendent be instructed accordingly.

Recommend that the City Engineer be instructed to draft an ordinance of intention to establish the grade of Pasadena avenue from the Pasadena bridge to the morth city limits, in accordance with the motion of Mr. Nickell.

ASSISTANT CHIEF MORIARTY.

His Left Foot Amputated Yesterday After-noon—Resting Easy. Assistant Fire Chief Moriarty was resting easily last evening, and it is now believed that his recovery is only a question of time. The left foot was amputated yesterday afternoon, the in-jured member being taken off about half way between the knee and ankle. The operation was performed by Drs. Ainsworth, Bicknels, Murphy, Kurtz and Ross, and there were present Chief Moore, Andy McNally and J. M. Skinner. The operation was a very successful one, and the surgeons are hopeful of the result.

Yesterday afternoon a report was in circulation that Mr. Moriarty had beer injured internally, and that his condi-tion was critical, but such is not the case, as he is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

It is stated that the Fire Commissioners will at the next meeting take action in Moriarty's case, and that he will be given relief.

A movement is also on foot to raise an $1800 mortgage on Moriarty's home, and a subscription was started for that purpose yesterday afternoon. Moriarty has been having a run of bad luck for some months, and is in need of assistance.

NOWING ones predict that lemons are the coming crop. So as to be in the swim and in position to catch the wind when it comes, secure some of the East Whittler tract and put it out in lemons and when others are reaping rich rewards in the lemon line you'll be with them on the flood tide to fortune. Experts have pronounced the East Whittler Tract especially adapted to this crop. Rich deep soil, warm south and southeast frontage, with the Puente Hills on the north and northeast; practically frostless, one can raise all kinds of vegetables and small fruits the year round between the rows while the trees are growing. The lemon trees begin bearing the third year We don't ask you to take our word for it, but come and examine. We can show you 3-year Eureka lemon trees loaded with finest fruit; orange trees not yet 3 years out with more than a box offine navels now hanging on a single tree. OFFICE OF THE TIMES, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11, 1891 Los Angeles, Dec. 11. 1891.

The new cropof citrus fruits is beginning to come into the market. Small lots of Riverside and Mountain oranges have been received during the past few days, but the arrivals thus far are mainly of fruit not fully matured, inferior in color and quality. Some shipments have also been made to northern points. The windstorm of the past day or two has caused great havoc in orange orchards in this vicinity. Not only partly ripe and green fruit has been blown down in large quantities, but in many orchards much of the fruit that has dropped will be a total loss, being too green for consumption. The riper fruit will probably be thrown on the market for whatever it will bring.

thrown on the market for whatever it will bring.

A Scattle dispatch says that all the Alaska salmon packers have combined and put their product in the hands of trustees for marketing. The proceeds of the sales will be divided in proportion to the contribution. The pack of Alaska salmon has been so large that the market is glutted, and the competition to force sales would have resulted in considerable loss to the packers had not the combination been formed. At present the supply far outruns the demand. The combine will probably result in restricting the pack of the coming season to a smaller amount.

JUDGE WADE'S COURTROOM.

He will Remain where He is Until His New Quarters are Ready.

The following communication, which was received from Judge Wade yesterday by the Board of Supervisors in response to that published yesterday in THE TIMES, would tend to the belief that the former official has receded from the position he took at the com-mencement of the controversy and that he seeks to throw the burden upon the shoulders of the representatives of the press, who visit his court daily:

To the Board of Supervisors. Los Angeles County—Gentlemen: Your esteemed favor of the 10th was received concerning the condition of the courtroom occupied at present by Department Three of the Superrior Court.

condition of the courtroom occupied at present by Department Three of the Superior Court.

The complaint made by members of the jury in attendance found its way into the papers through the industry of the reporters.

When this room was assigned to this Department of course it was not known that the lower room was to be occupied by a restaurant and we all probably anticipated a more speedy completion of the commodious room in the Courthouse.

What followed is past praying for, and probably the period of occupancy will be so short, in view of the present advanced state of the work in the new courtroom, that it would hardly be worth while to remove from here until we are ready to take up our new quarters.

In the meantime I shall try and make the best of things as they are. I have the honor to be, very respectfully.

W. P. WADE,

Judge of Department Three.
